

CONTENTS

Preface.	11*-14*
Introduction.	I-CXXVI
1. Śrī Kundakundācārya.	I-X
A general appreciation of Kundakunda.—Traditional names of Kundakunda.—Vakragrīva as a name of Kundakunda discussed.—Elācārya as a name of K. discussed.—Grdhrapiccha as a name of K. discussed.—Conclusion about his names.—Autobiographical relics of Kundakunda.—Traditional biography of K.—Another traditional story about K.—Scrutiny of the above two traditional stories.—Spiritual parentage etc. of Kundakunda.
2. Kundakunda's Date.	X-XXIV
Our approach to the problem.—The traditional date of Kundakunda.—Date proposed by Pt. Premi.—Date proposed by Dr. Pathak.—Date proposed by Prof. Chakravarti.—Pt. Jugalkishore's view on the date.—A summary of the facts.—Kundakunda's posteriority to S'vetā. and Diga. division.—Kundakunda as the śiṣya of Bhadrabāhu discussed.—Kundakunda's authorship of Ṣaṭkhaṇḍāgamatīkā discussed.—Kundakunda as a contemporary of S'ivakumāra discussed.—Kundakunda as the author of Kural.—Later limit for the date suggested from literary and epigraphic evidences.—The two limits and the possible conclusion.—Prakrit dialect as an evidence for the date proposed.—Domicile etc. in the light of the date proposed.
Kundakunda's works.	XXIV-XLIX
Kundakunda as the author of 84 Pāhudaḥ.—Ṣaṭkhaṇḍāgamatīkā.—Mūlācāra.—Ten Bhaktis.—Titthayarabhatti.—Siddhabhatti.—Sudabhatti.—Cārittābhatti.—Aṇagārabhatti.—Āyariyabhatti.—Nivvāṇabhatti.—Paṃcaparamēṭṭhibhatti.—Critical remarks on Ten Bhaktis.—Daṃṣaṇapāhuda.—Cārittāpāhuda.—Suttapāhuda.—Bodhapāhuda.—Bhāvapāhuda.—Mōkḥapāhuda.—Liṃgapāhuda.—Śilapāhuda.—Critical remarks on eight Pāhudaḥ.—Rayasāra.—Critical remarks on Rayasāra.—Bārasa-Aṇuvēkkhā.—Critical remarks on Bārasa-Aṇuvēkkhā.—Niyamasāra.—Critical remarks on Niyamasāra.—Pañcāstikāya.—Critical remarks on Pañcāstikāya.—Samayasāra.—Critical remarks on Samayasāra.—The designation Nāṭaka discussed.
Pravacanasāra of Kundakunda.	XLIX-XOVII
a) Study of Pravacanasāra.	XLIX-L
Pravacanasāra in Oriental studies.—

b) The Text of Pravacanasāra.

Text influenced by the commentary.—Two recensions of the text.—Criteria of textual criticism and the nature of additional gāthās.—Classification and scrutiny of additional gāthās.—Critical light on the recension of Amṛtacandra.

c) Summary of Pravacanasāra.

LIV-LXII

Book I.—Book II.—Book III.—Critical remarks on Pravacanasāra.

d) Philosophical aspect of Pravacanasāra.

LXII-XCV

1. Dogmatical back-ground or the Jaina ontology.—Critical remarks on Jaina and Sāṃkhya ontology.— 2. Substance, quality and modification.—Explanatory remarks on the three.—Distinction between guṇa and paryāya.—Siddhāsena's objections stated.—Kundakunda's position stated and Siddhāsena's objections explained away.— 3. Nature of spirit and matter, Jīva and Pudgala.—Comparative and critical remarks on the nature of spirit.—Comparative and critical remarks on the nature of matter.— 4. The doctrine of three Upayogas.—Comparison with Sāṃkhya guṇas.— 5. The theory of omniscience.—Some side-light on omniscience.—Omniscience of Varuṇa.—Upaniṣads on omniscience.—Omniscience according to Buddhism.—Kumārila's attack on omniscience.—Omniscience elsewhere and omniscient bliss.—Omniscience compared with Radhakrishnan's Religious experience.—Necessity and proof of omniscience.— 6. The Atomic theory.—Kundakunda's view stated.—Kundakunda on atomic interlinking.—Atomism elsewhere.— 7. Syādvāda, or the theory of conditional predication.—Side-light on the back-ground of Syādvāda.—Syādvāda in Higher and Lower knowledge.—Syādvāda and Nayavāda.—Nayavāda and Syādvāda traced back in Jaina literature.—Counterparts of Syādvāda elsewhere discussed.—Vedāntic beginning for Syādvāda not tenable.—Syādvāda and Relativity.—Syādvāda and Modern philosophy.—Evaluation of Syādvāda.— 8. Jaina conception of Divinity.—Transmigration a fact and a dogma.—The idea of divinity explained.—Vedic gods and the Jaina conception of god.—Jainism and Nāstikatā.—Jaina Liberation.— 9. Jainism in Indian religious thought.

e) Monastic aspect of Pravacanasāra.

XCv-XCVII

An ideal Jaina monk.—Critical remarks on some Jaina ascetic practices.—Remarks on the Saṃgha of Jaina Monks.—Back-ground of the Jaina institution of Mendicancy.

5. Commentators of Pravacanasāra.

XCVII-OXI

1. Amṛtacandra and his Tattvadīpikā. XCVII-CI
 Amṛtacandra and his works.—His Scholarship, style etc.—
 Quotations in his Tattvadīpikā.—Date of Amṛtacandra.
2. Jayasena and his Tātparyavṛtti. CI-CIV
 Jayasena and his commentaries.—This Jayasena distinguished from others of the same name.—Jayasena as a commentator compared with Amṛtacandra.—Quotations in his Tātparyavṛtti.—Date of Jayasena.
3. Bāḷacandra and his Kannāḍa Tātparyavṛtti. CIV-CVII
 Information about Bāḷacandra.—His teachers, colleagues, disciples, domicile etc.—Date of Bāḷacandra.—Commentaries of Jayasena and Bāḷacandra compared.—Priority of Jayasena's commentary.
4. Prabhācandra and his Sarojabhāskara. CVIII-CIX
 Remarks on Prabhācandra's commentary.—Information about Prabhācandra and his date.
5. Malliṣeṇa and his Ṭikā. CIX-CX
 The Ms. of the so called Malliṣeṇa's ṭikā.
6. Pāṇḍe Hemarāja and his Hindī Bālāvabodha CX-CXI
 Remarks on Hemarāja's style etc.—Relations and works of Hemarāja.—The occasion of composition.
6. The Prakrit dialect of Pravacanasāra. CXI-CXXVI
 Introductory remarks.—Treatment of vowels.—Samdhis illustrated.—Treatment of intervocalic consonants.—Critical remarks on ya-sr'uti.—Treatment of conjunct consonants.—Declension.—Conjugation.—Verbal derivatives.—Particles etc.—Numerals and typical words.—The place of this dialect among the Prakrits.—Views on the name of this dialect.—Denecke's view criticised, and Jaina S'aurasenī as the significant name.—Historical back-ground of Jaina S'aurasenī.—Jaina S'aurasenī and Jacobi's Pre-classical Prakrit.

प्रकाशक का निवेदन १२७

संपादनिका १२८

अनुक्रमणिका १२९-१३२

Prakrit Text of Pravacanasāra with the Sk. commentaries of Amṛtacandra and Jayasena and the Hindi Commentary of Hemarāja. १-३७६

English Translation. 1-34

Index to the Contents of Pravacanasāra. 35-40

Variant Readings.	41-45
Alphabetical Index of Pravacanasāra-gāthās	46-50
Alphabetical Index of quotations in the commentaries with their sources.	51-52
Index to Introduction.	53-61

---